

PART A. Choose the correct option in questions 1-20.

How long do you spend sleeping? Have you always needed the same amount of sleep? Do you get (1) _____ sleep or are you always sleepy?

The way you answer these questions probably depends on your age. Teenagers are much more likely (2) _____ from too little sleep than the rest of the population. Few people know that a typical teenager needs (3) _____ than younger children or adults. Their 'body clocks' change and, as a result, most teenagers aren't able to fall asleep until at least 11 p.m. or later. This is a real problem when most teenagers (4) _____ get up and go to school early in the morning. Changing school times is one answer. Teenagers would be able to use their brains when they are at their best – mid-afternoon. Meanwhile, here's some good advice for (5) _____ sleepy teenagers:

- It's a good idea to adapt your sleep patterns slowly until they (6) _____ school times. Try to go to sleep and wake up fifteen minutes earlier each day to reach the desired time.

- You (7) _____ aim to sleep for about nine hours every night.

- (8) _____ off caffeine and alcohol will certainly help.

- Don't change your routine too (9) _____ at weekends.

Nearly all of us have fantasized about winning the big prize in a lottery. We dream about what we would do with the money, but we rarely stop to think about what that money would do to us! The different parts of our lives fit together like a jigsaw - work, home, friends, hobbies, and sports make up our world. This is where we belong and where we feel at home. The big prize may change our life (10) _____ dramatically that the jigsaw is smashed. Winners are usually advised not to publicize their address and phone number; (11) _____, charity requests and begging letters still arrive.

(12) _____ they are careful, most of their money (13) _____ on lawyers' fees to protect them from demanding relatives, guards to protect their homes and swimming pools, and psychiatrists to protect their sanity!

There are many stories about those people (14) _____ couldn't learn how to be rich. In 1999, Abby Wilson from Brixton, London, won £7 million on Thunderball, and it brought her nothing but misery. She immediately went on a spending spree that lasted for four years and five marriages. She became penniless and alone. 'I'm a miserable person,' she says. 'Winning that money was the most awful thing that (15) _____ to me.'

Then there is the story of William Church, 37, a cafeteria cook from Blackpool. He won the National Lottery, but it turned out to be his unluckiest bet. Three weeks (16) _____ winning, he dropped dead of a heart attack, which (17) _____ by endless bothering from the press, the public, and relatives, after his £3.6 million win.

For some people, the easiest thing is to get rid of the money as soon as possible. Jim Taylor, a sailor from Scotland, won £2 million, and blew the money in 77 days. He withdrew thousands of pounds a day from the bank and handed it to former shipmates and strangers in the street.

Anita Cotton (18) _____ the biggest lottery winner at the time when she won £12 million. It has taken her years to get used to the changes in her life. 'I (19) _____ do it only with support from my family,' she says. 'There were so many lies about me in the press. They (20) _____ I had dumped my husband and children, bought an island in the Indian Ocean, and become a drug addict. All wrong.'

<sup>1</sup> In Hollywood, everybody wants to be rich, famous, and beautiful. Nobody wants to be old, unknown, and poor. For Hollywood kids, life can be difficult because they grow up in such an unreal atmosphere. Their parents are ambitious, and the children are part of the parents' ambitions. Parents pay for extravagant parties, expensive cars, and designer clothes. When every dream can come true, kids learn the value of nothing because they have everything.

<sup>2</sup> A 13-year-old boy, Trent Maguire, has a driver, credit cards, and unlimited cash to do what he wants when he wants. 'One day, I'll earn more than my Dad,' he boasts. Parents buy care and attention for their children because they have no time to give it themselves. Amanda's mother employs a personal trainer, a nutritionist, a bodyguard/chauffeur, a singing coach, and a counsellor to look after all her 15-year-old daughter's needs. Often there is no parent at home most days, so children decide whether to make their own meals or go out to restaurants, when to watch television or do homework. They organize their own social lives. They play no childhood games. However, they become adults before they're ready.

<sup>3</sup> Hollywood has always been the city of dreams. The kids in L.A. live unreal lives where money, beauty, and pleasure are the only gods. Will children around the world soon start to think the same? Or do they already?

66. The main idea of the text is _____.

TEXT II

<sup>1</sup> People in the United States have a choice between free tax-funded public schools or tuition-based private schools. All public school systems are required to provide an education free of charge to everyone of school age.

<sup>2</sup> All schools, public and private, are monitored by the Department of Education. Educational standards and standardized testing decisions are made by state governments. People are required to attend school until the age of 16–18. If a child is not attending school, the parents will be in trouble and could possibly go to jail. Education is divided into three levels: elementary, junior high, and senior high. Grade levels in each vary from area to area.

<sup>3</sup> Elementary school, also known as grade school, is the school of the first six grades. The basic subjects of math, English and science are taught. Junior high school is grades 5–8, depending upon the school structure. The basic subjects are expanded on. A foreign language is often added. High school runs from grades 9–12. Each grade number also has a name: freshman, sophomore, junior and senior. There are a minimum number of courses students are required to complete to receive a high school diploma. Starting in ninth grade, grades become very important because they are part of a student’s official transcript. In the last two years of high school students take standardized tests to apply for college. The SAT and ACT are the most common standardized tests.

<sup>4</sup> Post-secondary education in the United States is known as college or university. It consists of four years, or more, of study. Students apply to receive admission into college. Admissions criteria involve the grades earned in high school, and their GPA and standardized test scores. After finishing a four-year degree, students may continue to a more advanced degree such as a Master’s degree.

<sup>5</sup> As a whole, the population of the United States is becoming more educated. Post-secondary education is valued very highly by American society and is one of the main determinants of class and status.

71. We can infer from paragraph 2 that _____.

TEXT III

<sup>1</sup> Few hobbies combine collecting Roman artefacts, medieval coins, and discovering bodies. However, the very British hobby of mudlarking is making a comeback. Mudlarking is a pastime that has become more popular in the last few years in London. It involves going to the River Thames at low tide and digging in the mud for valuable objects. A person who goes mudlarking is called a mudlark.

<sup>2</sup> Mudlarking has its origins in 18th-Century London. But in those days, it wasn't a hobby at all. It was actually a way for many children – and those too old to be employed – to survive. This was at a time when there were hardly any bridges crossing the river, so most people caught boats across. Getting on and off the boats, people dropped things. These were then found by mudlarks, the poorest level of society, who sold them to earn money, which would hopefully be just enough for a meal.

<sup>3</sup> Steve Brooker is a modern-day mudlark and he's had this unusual hobby for 30 years. He's found everything from glass bottles and clay pots, to coins dating from Roman times right up to the present day. He says he has found many extraordinary things, but finding a human skeleton was particularly terrifying. He later found out the bones were 300 years old, but even so, it's an experience he is happy he hasn't repeated. Steve often goes to the river near where he lives, but on the day I met him, he accompanied me in my boat to the east of the city. Steve was excited because he hadn't had a boat for a few years, and this meant he could reach an area where he hadn't been for some time. 'Getting caught out by the tide is a real danger,' Steve explains. He advises us, as he does with anyone he has guided on the river, to watch for the water level and always have an escape route. We appear to be OK and our boat is our way on and off the Blackwall foreshore.

<sup>4</sup> Apart from a permit, the only tools required for mudlarking are a bucket and something to dig with. At 25°C, we are lucky with the weather, but even on rainy days, keen mudlarks can be found by the water's edge. 'Every day, as the water level rises and falls, it moves objects in the mud,' explains Steve. 'So it's possible to find really good things any time of the year.' Steve quickly fills his bucket with coins, Victorian pipes, old keys, and even a jar that he says came from an old food factory that used to be nearby. He knows exactly where to look and hardly digs down at all. After an hour, his top object is a metal toy from the 1800s. Much of what he finds goes to local museums. 'That's what anyone who goes mudlarking usually does,' says Steve.

<sup>5</sup> Steve explains why the river mud holds such treasure. 'It is anaerobic, which means it doesn't hold air. Therefore, anything in it stays in great condition,' he says. 'Once they are opened up to the air, however, their condition starts to break down, so mudlarking is all about keeping things that would otherwise fall to pieces'.
